PCL Construction Honored with Design-Build Awards

Green Build at Lindbergh Field

Student Union at Cal State San Marcos

PCL Construction has won two Design-Build Institute of America awards at the Western Pacific Region Design Build Awards program in Newport Beach. It received the Merit Award for the student union at Cal State San Marcos and the Distinction Award for the Green Build terminal expansion at Lindbergh Field.

Built by PCL, the University Student Union at CSUSM is a four-story, 89,000-square-foot building that cost $43.9 million. It features new dining, an open-air amphitheater, a student activity center, a rooftop garden and patio, and a 9,000-square-foot ballroom.

The Green Build at the airport was completed by a joint venture of PCL Construction Services, Turner Construction Co. and Flatiron Construction Corp. The $470 million project includes a three-story, 460,000-square-foot expansion of Terminal 2 with 10 new gates, twice as many security lanes, expanded concessions, and 1,500,000 square feet of new taxiway and jet parking.
